To give an idea of the benefit hereof the following rough costs for 2 weeks can be considered:

Hotel (two weeks): ~€1500-€2000

Hostel (single occup.): €800-€1000

Hostel (4 people): €1000-€1500

Fees

The courses are arranged through the Doctoral School of Engineering, Science and Medicine at Aalborg University. For Ph.D. students registered at any university, participation in the course itself is free. For non-Ph.D. students, an additional registration fee (stated below for each individual course) will also be charged. This fee will be charged after the registration deadline is passed and registrants have got the confirmation of participation.

However, a contribution fee will be charged all participants to cover expenses for lunches, coffee, transportation, etc. As this will depend on the actual number of course participants the amount will not be stated until after registration have closed, but is not expected to exceed €200. This fee will be charged after confirmation of participation and has to be paid no later than at the beginning of the course.
